Prompt

I want to create a photography forward, playful, happy wedding website. The general flow from logging in should be the following:

1. Password entry page: starts with “Meet us in Montecito” and then below it “Enter the password to get started:” then a place to insert the password. We can start with the password being ktkivi
    a. If password is wrong, let’s get a snappy “Oops! Check your email for the password”
2. Once the password is entered correctly, password entry box should fade and “Meet us in montecito” should rise up to the top of the page, finally being overlaid on the hero image for the page, “Ionel & Katie 23” (in the images folder of this project). 7.31.2027 should fade in below “Meet us in Montecito”
3. On scroll, we should make the picture fade so that a text box can appear that reads “We are thrilled to welcome you to our wedding weekend in our happy place: Santa Barbara, CA. If you are reading this, know that you mean the world to us. We will keep this page updated so check back in with any questions! -Katie & Ionel”
4. Below that, there should be a button to RSVP. That should open up a pop-up form where guests can indicate which of the 4 events they can attend: the welcome party, the ceremony and reception, and the brunch. They should enter their names and emails as part of that RSVP. Answers should be saved down in a Google spreadsheet that can be easily accessed by site admins.
5. Below that, there should be 3 sections that you can skip to. Those sections should also be accessible by scrolling down, or by a three-bar menu button at the top right of the screen. Those sections are “weekend plan”, “accommodations”, and “faq”
6. For weekend plan, show Vintage Santa Barbara Map Illustration as the background and overlay left with text. The text should read:
    a. Friday, July 30, 2027: Welcome party at the Kellers’ house on Hodges Lane
    b. Saturday, July 31, 2027: Ceremony at All Saints by the Sea, followed by reception at Birnam Wood Golf Club
    c. Sunday, August 1, 2027: Brunch at La Paloma Café
7. For accommodations, text should read:
    a. “Hotels in Santa Barbara tend to get expensive during wedding season, so we highly recommend getting a jump on hotel booking as soon as possible. Katie and Ionel will be staying at Santa Barbara Inn and would love to invite our guests to book there as well. After a lot of research, we think this hotel does the best job of balancing quality, location, and price.”
    b. Another great option (adjacent to Santa Barbara Inn) is Mar Monte Hotel – perfect if you would like to use Hyatt points! We also love Hotel Californian in the Funk Zone for a top-tier experience.
8. For FAQ, let’s have each question as a drop down with the text showing up below when you click. let’s start with the following questions:

a. What is the dress code for the wedding? Answer: Summer Formal – long dresses and suits are appropriate. Tuxes are not necessary.
b. How should I get to Santa Barbara? Answer: Santa Barbara is a ~5 hour drive from the Bay Area and a ~2 hour drive from LA, so driving is a great option for our California-based guests. Otherwise, we recommend flying into SBA (the world's cutest airport) or, for long hauls, flying into LAX. LAX is a 2 hour drive from Santa Barbara, which can be completed in a rental car or with the Santa Barbara Airbus shared van service.

The design of the website should focus on the following colors:
Coral: EB9586
Fuschia: BF5665
Orange: E38F53
Butter yellow: F9D89B
Sage green: 6F7C44
Natural mint: BBBA9C
Light beige: EFE4C5
Blush peach: F0D2B0
Pink: EEBCAE

We have been loving backgrounds with butter yellow and white stripes, then coral lettering.

Accent phrases like "meet us in montecito" and headers should be in a vintage script font like Heldies Script (in the "inspo" folder). Otherwise, text should be in a clean serif font like Didot.
